Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should snow of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suf-fering incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by hav-ing at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend. This is a penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the mus-cles and enables them to expand without painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided nervous sickness is counteracted, and a bright, hap-py disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the charcter and tem-perament of the little one soon to come. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will engerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Young Lover; Older Woman Youth Does Not Usually Remain

True to the Woman Who Is Older Than Himself.
By Beatrice Fairfax

66 T AM twenty-five years of age, writes a girl who signs herself by the descriptive name of Freckles," a name that speaks for itself, "and am deeply in love with a young man six years my junior with whom I have kept company for the past five months. He claims he loves me, but when we attend a dance or party he seems to pay more attention to the younger girls. Do you think he really cares for me?"

Older women than Freckles, those who have known more of love's sweetness and more of its bitterness, and to whom Man is no problem, but something to be read as easily as a printed page, will say wisely, "He is beginning too soon."

Edythe Bell; sermon by the pastor; Sunday school, 9:45 a. m.; Epworth league, 6:45 p. m.; prayer meeting Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. First Baptist.

has reached it.

He Is Unjust.

So prone is man to this injustice that the wife who is the junior is made to feel with the years that she is too old for her husband. It is the love of the boy for his school teacher told over again, and it is an injustice to him as well as to herself, to accept his stammered expressions of admiration as serious avowals.

Women do it, however, every day. Some because they love love, and will welcome his messenger though he come in swaddling clothes. Others because their charms attract only the impulsive and impressionable, Others through motives that are mercenary, for behind the young boy there stands a wealthy father, and others, like Freckles, who love, taking no heed of age and discover to their cost some day that this is a matter of which the man always takes heed sooner or later.

The boy Freckles loves is already beginning to wander. "When at a dance or party he pays more attention to the younger girls." If he does this in the first blush of his love, it is dreary to contemplate what he will do when that love has grown cold.

No Limit.

My dear girl, I fear that then, If the tendencies of his youthful love making are a criterion, he will not limit his gallantary to "the younger girls" when he casually meets them at a dance or a party.

Give him up, Freckles! He is too

he casually meets them at a dance or a party.

Give him up, Freekles! He is too young for you. He is too young for sny woman. I want you to know the love of a man, I want you to receive a measure as full as you give. A man's heart to match a woman's, and not the petulant, wilful, changeable love of a boy.
